

Motions from the Committee on Committees:

1. Change the name of the "Safeguard in Human Research Committee" to "Institutional Review Board for Human Research." The federal agency that oversees the use of human subjects in research specifies "Institutional Review Board" as the title for all such committees.

2. Change the name and charge of the Instructional Development Committee as follows:

Teaching, Learning, and Instructional Technology Committee (TLIT)
Studies the issues related to teaching and learning. Reviews, advises, and makes recommendations to the Center for Teaching Excellence, Center for Instructional Services, and the Provost regarding enhancing teaching and learning on campus. This includes workshop programming, instructional technology, eLearning, and other services as they relate to teaching and learning. Provides guidance to CTE regarding use of funds for faculty development and eLearning. Provides guidance to CIS regarding instructional technology support and services as well as classroom technologies. Receives applications from the faculty for financial support for the improvement of teaching and for general enrichment of teaching as part of the Instructional Development Grant process. Gives an annual report to the faculty senate on the status of teaching and learning issues and projects.
